PAT AS AN ACTRESS

Last year I wanted to be an actress. It was my dream. I'm very good at copying other people's voices and manners. But when I told my parents about my dream, they didn't want to hear that. I was very angry and upset. But then I had a brilliant idea. I went to my friend Sam's (short for Samantha). There I put on a black wig, big dark sunglasses and changed my clothes. Then Sam and I went to my parents'. 'Hi,' I said. 'This is our new classmate Beth,' said Sam and pointed to me. 'Hi, nice to meet you,' said Mum. 'You know, Beth is very famous. That's why she's wearing sunglasses,' explained Sam. Mum looked surprised. 'Come in, girls. Pat must be back soon. Let's have some tea.' Sam started helping Mum to lay the table, and I sat down on a chair. 'Well, Beth, where are you from?' asked Mum. 'I can't tell you. It's secret information,' I said. 'But why are you at a new school in the middle of the school year?' 'I'm having a photo session here,' I explained and put my legs on the chair next to me. Mum's eyes became very big, but she didn't say anything. 'I always put my legs on a chair because nobody can see them under the table. And they are so beautiful! It's silly to hide them,' I smiled. 'And my teeth are perfect,' I added with a sweet smile, 'because they are false.' 'False teeth at your age!' cried Mum and covered her mouth in horror. Then she came up to me, took off my wig and started laughing. Sam and I laughed too. Suddenly Mum stopped laughing and said seriously, 'You'll never ever talk to me about actresses. I don't want to have Beth instead of Pat.' You know, I thought about Mum's words and decided that I didn't want to become Beth either. And that was the end of my problem.
